

Abstract

A process for the production of a worsted wool fabric. A single wool yarn is shielded by wrapping a polymeric filament around it, to form a combined yarn. The combined yarn is weaved and subsequently the shielding polymer, which may be a synthetic polymer, is separated from the wool. The single wool yarn may be dyed prior to weaving and the wool may be roving.

T02230"E2445350